To whom it may concern

Reference for Caroline Bitterly

I can confirm that Caroline Bitterly worked as a placement student/developer at the Intelligent Systems Research Center from the 1st July 2013 until the 16th August 2013.

- Punctuality and attendance

Caroline submitted all her work on time to a high standard. She attended all project meetings and was punctual.

- Reliability and commitment

Caroline is a conscientious, enthusiastic worker, meticulous and was fully committed to the successful completion of her project.

- Interpersonal skills and teamwork

Caroline showed good interpersonal skills and was capable of clearly articulating her views when necessary. She works well as part of team.

- Ability to work under pressure and meet deadlines

Caroline clearly demonstrated the ability to work under pressure and met all her project deadlines. She has excellent project management skills.

- Technical ability and aptitude

Caroline was hardworking and is capable of producing work of a high standard to tight deadlines. She has excellent technical knowledge and depth of understanding in her area. During her time at the ISRC, Caroline worked on and developed skills and expertise in the Unity3D game development software, programming and 2d art and developing and deploying apps for iOS and Android devices. She also worked on game analytics and metrics.

I would have no problem in recommending Caroline as a prospective employee. Please feel free to contact me if required.
